

Access all AREAS

Words: Lynn Nicholson

Everyone at some point in their life has wanted to go on Safari, to experience new cultures and a different way of life, and with Go Africa Safaris you can no matter what your circumstances. The main focus of their business is to organize holidays to Kenya and Tanzania for the more mature traveler and for those with a disability, that said, they also organize holidays for the more able bodied travelers who want to go on a safari that takes them off the beaten track, far away from the horror of an organized coach trip, time restraints and strict schedules. With a wealth of experience they are able to put together holidays for any occasion and what a great place to go on honeymoon, or take your family, far away from the maddening crowd. You can also relax in the knowledge that these people really understand the area and therefore can match locations and trips exactly to you. How many agents do you know that can offer you that? Most point at pictures in a brochure and tell you that you will love it without even having a five minute conversation with you! No one wants to be disappointed on their holiday; you work too hard for it. The attraction for me is their eye for details and the fact that they listen to what you want from your trip and plan each itinerary around your ideals, not the other way around. You can choose your destinations; you decide how you want to travel and how long you want to stay in each location. No rushing just taking all the time you need. Africa has so much to offer to everyone. The landscape is completely different to anything you have ever seen before, the people are warm and friendly and the food is very different and the one thing you do not want against you is time. You can see wild animals in their natural habitat, no cages except the vehicle you are in! and at the same time really take a moment to enjoy the planet in all its glory. No high rise, only the mountains, no fast food restaurants, well only for the Lions! This is how earth used to look. Savor the moment and pray it will be their tomorrow for others to enjoy and remember. Talk to Go Africa Safaris and take the freedom they offer you to travel. Enjoy life and experience new things, throw away any barriers and go for it.
